NOTES ON THE ORGANISATION OF LANDING SHIPS, CRAFT AND BARGES

(Note.—For further particulars, see C.A.F.O. 2005/43, 631/44 and C.A.F.O. 1014/44.)

CLASSIFICATION OF UNITS

The following is the classification of Forces and Units in respect of their functions and standards of training and equipment.

(A) "Operational"

"Assault" Forces or Units.—Those, other than Support Forces and Units, that are equipped and trained to the standard necessary for the initial assault and immediate follow-up on defended objectives.

"Support" Forces or Units.—Those equipped and trained for providing support fire in the assault.

"Build-up" Forces or Units.—Those equipped and trained to the standard necessary for landings on captured beaches, subsequent to the actual assault, i.e. for the "build-up" phase.

(B) "Non-Operational"

"Training Units."—These are the units of training craft allocated for basic training purposes to certain establishments and bases.

"Ancillary Units."—These are units which will be attached to Forces or Bases, as necessary, as "maids of all work."

CONSTITUTION OF LANDING CRAFT UNITS

The standard functional and administrative unit of landing craft is the Flotilla.

The "Unit Equipment" of a Flotilla is the number of landing craft allocated to it, on which its allowance of crews is based, and which is the maximum strength at which the Flotilla can operate.

"Pooled Reserves" comprise all landing craft not allocated to units as Unit Equipment.

STANDARD FORMATIONS

The standard formations of landing ships, craft and barges adopted by the British and U.S. authorities are as follows:—

Landing Ships (Excepting L.S.T. (2).)				L.S.T. (2) and all Landing Craft and Barges.
British.		U.S.		British.		U.S.
Sub-division	3	Division	6	Sub-division	3	Division	6
Division	6	Group	12	Division	6	Group	12
Squadron	12	Flotilla	36	Flotilla	12	Flotilla	36
				Squadron	2 or more	Flotillas.

An Assault Group (British) is a formation of landing ships and craft of appropriate types to lift a Military formation of a given size, generally a Brigade Group, to the assault or immediate follow-up.

Assault groups are usually designated by the Force Letter and a number prefixed by the letter "G"; e.g. G.J. 1, G.S. 2, etc.

An Assault Force (British) is a number of Assault Groups sufficient to lift a large Military formation, such as a division, to the assault or immediate follow-up, with associated Naval Escorts and support craft. Assault Forces are usually designated by a letter; e.g. Force "J."

STANDARD NOMENCLATURE FOR HEADQUARTERS SHIPS AND SENIOR OFFICERS

(C.A.F.O. 2811/43)

The following is the standard nomenclature for Headquarters ships and Senior Officers:—

Senior Naval Officers.	H.Q. ship or Craft.	Associated Military.	Remarks.
A. Assault Force Commander (Flag Officer or Commodore).	Assault Force H.Q. ship (L.S.H.).	Assault Divisional Commander.	—
B. Senior Naval Officer (Landing) (S.N.O.L.) (Long Range Operations).	Assault Group H.Q. ship (L.S.I.).	Assault Brigade Commander.	—
Senior Officer Assault Group (Short Range Operations).	Assault Group H.Q. ship (Destroyer, Frigate, etc.).
C. Deputy S.N.O.L. (Long Range Operations).	Landing Craft H.Q. (L.C.H.) (in initial stages).	Battalion Commander (in initial stages).	These craft may be of different types such as U.S. type M.L., L.C.I.(L) H.M.S. Locust.
Deputy Senior Officer, Assault Group (Short Range Operations)*.	—	—

* The associated authorities in line C should not be taken as a rigid definition.

As the assault merges into the follow-up the Battalion Commanders naturally go ashore. Similarly, the D/S.N.O.L. or D/S.O.A.G. might also go ashore, but independently, to take up his duties as P.B.M.; in which case his H.Q. craft would probably be placed at the disposal of the "S.O.F.C." (S.O. Ferry Craft) or other officer running the "ferry service" of L.C. in the next, i.e. "build-up," phase.
